(TMI News – July 11, 2012)

A PIONEER'S PARADIGM SHIFT

SOMETIMES OUR WHOLE WORLD VIEW GETS SHAKEN AT ITS VERY CORE.

Not all pioneers are cognitively aware of the tremendous, immanent, and irrevocable change the course of their lives is about to take. Certainly that was the case with Bob Monroe's journey, as it is for many explorers who find understanding and answers through their TMI experiences.

Eben Alexander was seemingly impelled by circumstances to become a "pioneer of the future." Like Bob's, Eben's quest for answers and his willingness to share his process is a gift to anyone willing to receive it.

Eben Alexander, III, MD, director of research at The Monroe Institute.

A sudden unexpected illness and NDE forced a paradigm shift from the conventional neuroscientific view of consciousness arising from the brain to consciousness as the driver of neurophysiology.

See included video: Eben Alexander - Cortical Near Death Experience